6 Products that are the pride of our Terroir

You will find in Aix-en-Provence and in its countryside, products grown in the ground and under the sun.

1. Wine

With these 5 AOP, the Pays d' Aix has nothing to envy to the great wine destinations. Not mentioning the must- Provence rosé, essential for a great aperitif.

2. Olive oil from Aix-en-Provence

Classified as AOC , the oil is extracted according to the ancient art of millers.

3. Honey of Provence

From the maquis to the scrubland, the beekeeper harvests many flavored types of honeys in Provence: lavender, thyme etc.)

4. The Pertuis potato

Its taste and its long preservation are well known.

5. Herbs

The traditional "bouquet garni " reveals its powerful flavor when it is grown outdoors under the sun of Provence.

6. The "brousse de Rove"

This cheese is eaten as dessert accompanied with sugar. But it can also be served topped with a fruit sauce, jam or honey.

Meeting

Cédric Michaud

School training at the Jehanne de France professional school in Lyon: BEP kitchen (internship at La Mère Brazier), professional kitchen diploma (internship at Christian Têtedoie) with training in pastry.

"I worked for several renowned restaurants including the Georges Blanc Group at the restaurant Le splendid, the Paul Bocuse Group at the restaurant L'ouest, for Nicolas Le Bec at La Cour des Loges in Lyon. Arrived in Aix in 2007, I joined the restaurant l'Icône then the Côté Sud restaurant before joining La Flambée du Luberon in Venelles in 2010. My specialty: lamb shank 7h confit in a rosemary sauce."

Traditional Aioli Chef

Ingredients

for 6 persons

- 660 g Cod fillet
- 500 g of cooked whelks
- 6 eggs
- 300 g of green beans
- 400 g of carrots
- 300 g of beet
- 400 g cauliflower
- 600 g + 80 g of potatoes
- 5 cloves garlic
- 40 cl of olive oil

Preparation

- Prepare all the vegetables and then cook them in vegetable broth with herbs keeping them crisp.
- Boil the eggs, peel them.
- Oil a baking dish, sprinkle with salt, pepper and herbs. Roll in the flat portions or whole cod fillet.
- Bake 8 to 10 minutes according to the thickness at 160 ° C.
- Add whelks by heating them with vegetable broth, serve.

Preparation of aioli (garlic mayonnaise)

- Peel 80 g of cooked potatoes, mash. Chop the garlic; add the potato puree, salt and pepper. Mount with olive oil by incorporating it gradually.

To accompany your aioli

■ L'ÉVESQUE BLANC Millésime 2009

A White wine with character from the old Ugni and Clairette vines. Aged in barrels for several months, this powerful wine that combines flexibility, fat and volume in mouth will expressed itself perfectly with this unavoidable Mediterranean specialty.
